

Jemima A. Dennis-Antwi Visiting Scholar

March 20 - 31, 2017

Sponsored by Yale School of Nursing, the Whitney and Betty MacMillan Center for International and Area Studies at Yale, the Hakeem and Myma Belo-Osagie Forum on Contemporary Africa, Yale Africa Initiative, and the Council on African Studies at Yale

Jemima A. Dennis-Antwi, PhD, MSc, BScN
Founding President
Ghana College of Nurses and Midwives

Jemima A. Dennis-Antwi is a registered nurse, midwife, public health nurse, Fellow of the West Africa College of Nursing, and a Foundation Fellow of the Ghana College of Nurses and Midwives. Over the last 27 years, she has been involved locally and internationally with public service and development work in the health sector in various managerial positions. In 2013, Dr. Dennis-Antwi became the first President of the Ghana College of Nurses and Midwives. In this role, she has promoted continuous professional and postgraduate nursing and midwifery education in Ghana. From 2009-2013, she was the Regional Midwifery Advisor for Anglophone Africa for the International Confederation of Midwives (ICM) and collaborated with UNFPA on the “Investing in Midwives and others with Midwifery Skills” program, which was implemented in Africa, Asia and Latin America. As part of her work, Dr. Dennis-Antwi provided technical assistance in midwifery strengthening to 10 African countries namely Ethiopia, Ghana, Liberia, Sierra Leone, Malawi, Nigeria, Sudan, South Sudan, Uganda, and Zambia. Before joining ICM, Dr. Dennis-Antwi worked with the American College of Nurse-Midwives as the Technical Advisor on the Ghana Community-based Health Planning and Services (CHPS) Initiative. She also worked with Population Council as the Technical Advisor for the US Presidential Malaria Initiative.